

FACT SHEET Conestoga Wood Specialties v. Burwell

ABOUT THE CASE

The owners of Conestoga Wood Specialties, the Hahns, are a practicing and believing Mennonite Christian family. They desire to run the company, a wholesale manufacturer of custom wood kitchen cabinet parts, in a manner that reflects their sincerely held religious beliefs, including their belief that God requires respect for the sanctity of human life. Alliance Defending Freedom attorneys and allied attorneys represent the Hahns in a federal lawsuit against the Obama administration over its abortion pill mandate. The mandate forces employers, regardless of their religious or moral convictions, to provide insurance coverage for abortion-inducing drugs, sterilization, and contraception under threat of heavy penalties by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services if the mandate's requirements aren't met. After the U.S. Court of Appeals for the 3rd Circuit ruled in favor of the Obama administration, the U.S. Supreme Court agreed to hear the case along with another case, Burwell v. Hobby Lobby Stores.

CURRENT STATUS AS OF 2014-06-30

Sixty friend-of-the-court briefs were filed in support of Conestoga Wood Specialties and Hobby Lobby Stores by the end of January—outnumbering the number of briefs filed in support of the abortion pill mandate by nearly 3-1. The U.S. Supreme Court heard oral arguments on March 25 ruled against the mandate on June 30.
